Our Platform: Return station programming and operations to its grassroots:
No Censorship • Anti-Corporate • Anti-War • Listener Empowerment
Transparency • No Commercial Underwriting • Supporting Union and Unpaid Staff
Diverse and Radical Programming • Serving Pacifica/KPFA Community
Independent News • Maintaining National Voice • Democratic Process

Programming Specifics: Strengthen KPFA/Pacifica's anti-war voice to expose corporate media's propaganda that supports aggressive U.S. neoliberal policies. Build independent news reporting that focuses on those stories not found in corporate media. Be an investigative voice to inform the community of the underlying forces behind gentrification, police militarization, and economic injustice. Amplify grass root movement building with regular announcements of events that educate and activate the community. Work with management and the public to ensure that station programming is responsive to the diverse needs of the listeners and communities served by KPFA/Pacifica. Broadcast speeches that we sponsor to the entire listening audience to educate in this time of crisis.

Finances: Bring transparency to the financial process.
Hold management accountable. Ensure timely audits.

What Makes Us Different: We are members of KPFA who oppose the current station board majority's effort to break-up the Pacifica Foundation and operate KPFA as a stand-alone station.

Mantra Plonsey: As a cast member of a KPFA show (Twit-Wit) that was suddenly canceled without explanation, I call for democratic program decision-making.

Don Macleay: Community radio is in a position to bring the public an inclusive set of programs that the public needs to understand our current world.

Christine Pepin: In a time where corporate media all share the same whitewashed stories, it is critical to save KPFA's independent and rebellious voice.

Tom Voorhees: Wars and Washington corruption demand guest commentaries that support whistle blower disclosures.

Karina Stenquist: Community roots and independent funding are what set KPFA apart and that's what I'll fight for.

Marilyn Langlois: KPFA is a vital tool for exposing corporate media deceptions and envisioning a more humane way of living on our planet.
