

Disruption in Church Giving

Serving Leaders in Ministry

Pastor: Disruption in church giving is possible during the uncertainties of COVID-19. Here are a few resources to help you navigate those uncertainties. We understand the FINANCIAL HEALTH of your church is one of your key priorities.

On any given Sunday, a high percentage of giving happens through the offering plate. Although church use of online giving and giving apps continues to grow, as attendance drops, giving will most likely drop.

To make giving easier, consistent, and without the need for passing a plate, your church may want to consider online giving platforms. Churchgoers have the freedom to decide how much they want to donate and how frequently. They even have the choice to automate their giving by setting up recurring gifts. From debit cards to credit cards to automatic bank withdrawals, church online giving platforms make tithes and offerings easy for everyone.

HOW TO PREPARE FOR YOUR CHURCH'S FINANCIAL NEEDS

There are several things you can do now to prepare for any impact COVID-19 will have on your church. Here are a few ideas:

- Build a financial reserve in case giving decreases for a period of time.
- Do a special offering to build a reserve and to provide resources for serving the needs of those in your church and community.
- Make it easier for people to give through an online giving platform if you don't have one.

You may choose from several great giving platforms that can be tweaked to fit your church's specific needs. We've selected our five favorite, church online giving platforms (in no particular order) to help you provide your congregation with the option to give online or through their smartphones.

(You may also find that the core of your church may be motivated to give extra during this time of crisis, so your church will be more prepared to serve the needs inside your church and in the community. This may be one of the largest opportunities your church has had to share the gospel in words and deeds.)
