NEW President

ORLANDO - This has been a very different year for me and my family. There was great blessings and also sorrow at the loss of my brother. I was blessed with the opportunity to go to Armenia and Estonia to minister in June and Cuba in November. God is so good and meets our every need and blesses us abundantly.

This year I was elected President of COPE. God is full of surprises. My late husband Frank was one of the founders of COPE. COPE was founded in 1983 so it's been a big part of my life for 33 years. I made some wonderful life time relationships through COPE. People who love the Lord and are willing to do the will of God.

The Coalition of Prison Evangelist is an organization made up of many ministries; it is not run by any one ministry. We want to share and see what other ministries are doing. It helps us clarify and learn what direction our own ministry is going in.

We can learn so much from one another, new ways of doing things to make our ministries stronger from our peers and what God is saying to us. As our fellowship grows we become stronger individually and corporately.

Speaking on behalf of the Board of Directors of COPE I invite you to join us in Daytona Beach for our International Conference on September 13, 2017. It will be two blessed days of fellowship and growth.

Let us work together so we can better do the work God has called us to. I pray your New Year is full of God's blessings. May He strengthen your ministry and you as you bring the gospel to a hurting world.

See you in Daytona Beach!

Bunny Greenwood
President of COPE Board of Directors

Cheryl "Bunny" Constantino-Greenwood, author of Lady in the Shadow, is the co-founder of Servants of Christ ministry, and a very popular speaker in prisons, conferences and women's retreats. She is married to Bobby Greenwood, has six children, 12 grandchildren, and one grandchild.

Victory in the House

HEBREWS 6:10

INDIANAPOLIS — Jesus House is a 46 bed men residential re entry facility for just released prisoners, located in Indianapolis, Indiana. It was Founded by William Bumphus, a Cope Board Member since 1996.

Jesus House grew from a three bedroom home to its current location. We moved into our current location in 2006. For nine years we operated with a 90% success rate.

Last year (2015) we decided to put up a privacy fence and a neighbor complained and we found out that we were not zoned properly. Over the next year, our petition was denied, requiring us to go through the appeal process. Many friends prayed with and for us. Several submitted letters of support. Finally the nine-panel Metropolitan Development Board voted unanimously to grant our petition.

To God be the glory!

I want to thank all who prayed, sent letters of support and finances. – Pastor Bumphus ■

The three things I am thankful for...

By Ben Smith, Camp of the Ozarks

1. My amazing wife grace who has been my partner in ministry for over 13 years through the good times and the hard times.
2. I am thankful for COPE and all the great people we have known there who have been such a blessing and an encouragement to us.
3. I am also grateful for our five children who have helped us in ministry most of their lives and who love God and love others.

Our favorite family Thanksgiving traditions include going around the table and saying what we are grateful for, shooting guns, and playing Ultimate Frisbee. ■

2016 COPE East Central Regional Conference (ECRC) REACHBeyondBars to prepare for KINGDOM Legacy

Compiled Notes from the ECRC Brainstorming Session ...

COPE Gets 5-10

As presented by Evelyn Lemly

Greeting: Welcome! And, I also want to welcome all of our guests who are joining us on live stream. What an honor it is to be here on the lovely Caribbean island of Jamaica for the 2021 COPE Regional Conference. Haven't our guest Speakers and Presenters just been amazing?

Audience: Yes! [Clapping and cheering]

Thanks: Let me take just a moment to offer a special thank you to our event host and newest Board Member, Rev. Right.

Audience: [Clapping and cheering]

And we must take a moment to recognize our record breaking group of interns. This weekend we have 20 student volunteers from all over the globe who are partnering with our staff, Smith, our Executive Director and Jones our new Office Administrator, to assure that you have had a flawless week. How are they all doing so far?

Audience: [Stands, clapping and cheering]

We are in unprecedented times, witnessing the fulfillment of the Christ's word, "the last will be first". Just five years ago our nation had the highest rate of incarcerated persons in the world (20%), despite only having 5% of the nation's population. Today however, with the nationwide shift to a focus on creation that has been taking place by our government and non-profit organizations, added to their strong support of aftercare, that's no longer true. More and more people are coming out of prison and staying out.

Because chains have been broken, there's an army rising up from within those walls and that very army is getting out. It is that army who is making the difference. What we are seeing and experiencing first hand is the direct result of you and I collaborating together in mission and purpose.

Membership – I'm not sure who or what is responsible for the influx of new "younger" members, but if you look around, I believe you'll notice that over half of the room is under the age of 35.

Audience: [hooting & hollering]

Whatever the reason for the momentum, we have experienced a consistent upturn in the area of paying memberships over the past five years, empowering this coalition to not only grow, but unify in vision and impact. The sharing of resources has increased, growth in event attendance, and celebrated learning from one another through collaboration and mentoring programs.

So, what's coming up?

- We have added a new conference to our schedule this year.
- We're actually sponsoring our very first Youth conference as a coalition.

Impact – We have broadened our scope of influence to include a stronger aftercare focus while still being inside the prisons.

- We're working with the youth to break bondages to addiction and cycles of family incarceration.
- We are succeeding in advocating for prison reform, and it's happening through the use of Christian principles.
- Our very own Lobbyist Committee is directing that advocacy and leading the call on Washington.
- We are seeing laws changed that are making a difference on what's transpiring behind bars.

Resources – COPE is now providing training resources for chaplains.

- We are not only providing the jails and prisons with volunteer Chaplains, we're training them right here at our conferences and throughout the world by way of webinars.
- We've partnered with churches to ensure that Released not only to have a place to worship, but a home in the Body of Christ.
- With the help of our Partner Churches and Corporate Sponsors, we are leading the work of restoration, recovery and redemption.
- COPE is actively equipping & engaging the previously incarcerated, many whom you've heard from this week, and seeing to it that the words of Christ are carried out. Ensuring their success lasts and their testimonies are what is making the difference in people's lives.

International – We are experiencing an unprecedented collaboration between our own ministry members and our growing International Chapters. Every effort to foster international relations is being met with growth in our own back yards. For example:

- Over the past 5 years, Kairos has managed to add ten new countries, doubling their international scope of influence.
- The AOG Chaplaincy Department has had to add a new staff position, simply to provide support for the specific needs of their new younger recruits.
- Prison Christian Ministry has opened two new youth facilities. The latest is their home in Africa modeled directly after their Canadian facility.
- Kingsway just hosted their first statewide job fair and were recognized by the city mayor for their Christmas program which reached 1,000 children and 7,500 inmates.

We have been blessed to be in more countries and see God at work as these Chapters are coming together and growing in strength.

Closing: These are just a few of the fundamental things that you've witnessed here this week in Jamaica. God goes before us and he can make it happen. Let's claim His victory. Amen.

Audience: Amen. [Clapping and cheering]

Reminder: Don't forget to stop by the back table to sign up for your copy of conference recordings and be sure to pick up a copy of our new music CD. It's a great mix of praise & worship by our own ministry friends & special guest musicians. ■

The three things I am thankful for...

By Manuel Cordero,
AOG Chaplaincy Department

1. Salvation in Christ
2. Family, and my
3. Staff

And My Favorite Family Tradition Is ...

Our family eats Hoagies (sub-sandwiches) on Christmas Eve. Why?

One year I was transferred from the US Penitentiary in Marion, IL to the Federal Bureau of Prisons in Allenwood, PA during Christmas. Because of the move, we found ourselves at a hotel on Christmas Eve.

All of the restaurants were closed because of the holiday, so we ended up having to eat Hoagies for dinner. We had no Christmas tree. We were bummed out and thought this was clearly the worst Christmas ever.

However, as I was preparing to go to the institution for services a group of people from a local church we had visited the previous Sunday showed up at our door singing carols. They brought cookies, a small tree and gifts. The Lord turned our meager hotel holiday into the best Christmas ever.

So now we eat hoagies every year our children now adults have adopted this practice with their families as well. ■

U.S. Senate Approves 21st Century Cures Act

December 7, 2016

By CSG Justice Center Staff

CuresNow was passed by a bipartisan vote of 94-5. The $6 billion public health and medical research bill is an umbrella for a variety of health initiatives, from authorizing money to combat the nation's opioid crisis to funding the "Moonshot" project to cure cancer.

Included in the omnibus bill's range of initiatives are several criminal justice reform measures related to the issue of mental health, including the enactment of the Comprehensive Justice and Mental Health Act (CJMHA) and the reauthorization of the Mentally Ill Offender Treatment and Crime Reduction Act (MIOTCRA).

Five Key Impacts of the Bill

1. Reauthorizes essential MIOTCRA funds for mental health responses in corrections, courts, and by first responders.

Through its incorporation of CJMHA, the bill includes reauthorization of MIOTCRA, an essential funding mechanism for mental health resources within or intersecting with the justice system. The bill extends MIOTCRA for four years at $50 million per year, updates the legislation to provide new commitments to training first responders on responses to people with mental illnesses, and gives additional resources for veterans' courts to help those with behavioral or post-traumatic stress disorders.

2. Expands successful federal, state, and local models of mental health diversion.
3. Advances mental health as a key part of reentry.

The bill brings new or expanded behavioral health resources into the package of reentry services provided to the millions of people that are released from prison or jail each year.

4. Expands training in effective mental health responses for law enforcement and police officers.
5. Prioritizes data collection, accountability, and policies, programs, and practices proven to work in mental health and criminal justice.
